

TAKE PART IN THE COOLEST READING CAMPAIGN THIS SUMMER! 🚀

If you are in 1st to 7th grade in school, from the 1st of June to the 31st of August, you can take part in Sommerles.no!

Reading becomes fun and engaging with Sommerles! Create your profile at Sommerles.no, register the books you've read, see what books are popular, enjoy weekly challenges, and check out what your friends are reading. Read the epic story of Asbjørn and Astrid with a new chapter each week, written by Mari Moen Holsve. If you don't have access to the internet, ask for a reading card at your local library to participate offline.

Sommerles is for all readers! Each book you register gives you XP (experience points) as you progress through the levels. You can read yourself, or get someone to read to you, and it doesn't matter whether they are physical books, e-books, audiobooks, or comics – all reading counts. As you level up, you will receive prizes that you can collect at the library, as well as digital trophies that you can collect on your Sommerles profile.

For parents/guardians:

Sommerles.no is an online reading campaign that is designed to motivate children to enjoy reading, and to make participation fun! Children who read regularly during the summer strengthen their reading skills throughout the school holiday. While some children do read in their spare time, those that do not may be behind when the next school year starts. We hope that you will help us motivate your children to join Sommerles.no, and it is an excellent and enjoyable activity, especially if you are going on holiday this summer. Visit altom.sommerles.no for more information - or visit your local library.
